

Welcome to Duke's

PROGRAM IN MEDIEVAL AND RENAISSANCE STUDIES!

You are among a highly selective group of students, as only a handful of universities in the country offer this interdisciplinary major to undergraduates (it is much more commonly a graduate program). No surprise, our majors are among the brightest, most curious and ambitious students at Duke. Our majors distinguish themselves doing honors work at twice the rate of the rest of the student body.

TAKING YOUR FIRST STEPS . . .

You will receive intensive, personal advising in this program. Dr. Michael Cornett, Associate Director, will advise you from start to finish. He will help you select courses that complement each other and advance your special intellectual interests. But his philosophy is to lead you beyond the classes you take. He will challenge you to think outside of the classroom: to seek firsthand experiences at exhibitions and performances, to study abroad, to work with faculty and pursue research on an honors project. Dr. Cornett will show you how to take these steps. He will be in touch with you soon.

MEDREN majors don't have a prescribed intellectual path; they imaginatively create their own. We can't wait to see who you will become in the major!

Contact Dr. Michael Cornett for more information jmems@duke.edu / (919) 681-8883 / <http://medren.trinity.duke.edu/cmrs>